Case No. 2006-03541-AD

Daniel R. Borchert

Deputy Clerk

MEMORANDUM DECISION

FINDINGS OF FACT

{¶ 1} 1) On August 27, 2005, at approximately 2:30 p.m., plaintiff, Sonya Trollinger, was traveling east on Interstate 275 when her 1991 Honda Accord struck a tire laying on the roadway. The tire caused substantial damage to plaintiff's car. The incident was approximately located near milepost 43.3 on Interstate 275 in Hamilton County.

{¶ 2} 2) Consequently, plaintiff filed this complaint seeking to recover $2,120.00, her total expressed damage claim which she contends she suffered as a result of negligence on the part of defendant, Department of Transportation, in maintaining the roadway. The filing fee was waived.

{¶ 3} 3) Defendant has denied any liability for plaintiff's damage. Defendant denied having any knowledge of the tire debris condition prior to plaintiff's incident. Plaintiff has failed to produce any evidence establishing the length of time the tire debris condition was on the roadway prior to her property damage occurrence. Defendant suggested the debris condition existed for a short period of time prior to plaintiff's August 27, 2005, property damage event.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

{¶ 4} Defendant has the duty to maintain its highway in a reasonably safe condition for the motoring public. Knickel v. Ohio Department of Transportation (1976), 49 Ohio App. 2d 335. However, defendant is not an insurer of the safety of its highways. See Kniskern v. Township of Somerford (1996), 112 Ohio App. 3d 189; Rhodus v. Ohio Dept. of Transp. (1990), 67 Ohio App. 3d 723.

{¶ 5} In order to recover in any suit involving injury proximately caused by roadway conditions including debris, plaintiff must prove either: 1) defendant had actual or constructive notice of the debris and failed to respond in a reasonable time or responded in a negligent manner, or 2) that defendant, in a general sense, maintains its highways negligently. Denis v. Department of Transportation (1976), 75-0287-AD.

{¶ 6} Defendant is only liable for roadway conditions of which it has notice, but fails to reasonably correct. Bussard v. Dept. of Transp. (1986), 31 Ohio Misc. 2d 1.

{¶ 7} Plaintiff has not produced any evidence to indicate the length of time the debris condition was present on the roadway prior to the incident forming the basis of this claim. No evidence has been submitted to show defendant had actual notice of the debris. Additionally, the trier of fact is precluded from making an inference of defendant's constructive notice, unless evidence is presented in respect to the time the debris appeared on the roadway. Spires v. Ohio Highway Department (1988), 61 Ohio Misc. 2d 262. There is no indication defendant had constructive notice of the debris.

{¶ 8} Finally, plaintiff has not produced any evidence to infer defendant, in a general sense, maintains its highways negligently or that defendant's acts caused the defective condition. Herlihy v. Ohio Department of Transportation (1999), 99-07011-AD. Therefore, defendant is not liable for any damage plaintiff may have suffered from the roadway debris.
